> DeriveXperts was founded in 2003 and has been accompanying financial institutions in their risk management ever since, helping them comply with the constraints arising from an increasingly demanding regulatory framework. The comprehensive offer of services provided by DeriveXperts enables its clients to enhance the reliability of their financial products management.

DeriveXperts counts several prestigious financial institutions among its long-term clients, including insurance companies, private banks, fund managers and corporates. These partnerships have helped us to understand the precise challenges and issues that buy-side companies are facing with structured products, and to develop adequate and customised solutions.

Effective valuations

Leaning on its long experience of financial markets and its profound understanding of structured products, the DeriveXperts team regularly assesses hundreds of financial products from the simplest plain vanilla options to the most complex structured products. Our valuations cover all asset classes:

commodities, credit, equities, fixed income, foreign exchange and funds.

Smart analysis

As well as providing quantitative valuations of structured products, DeriveXperts provides its clients with in-depth analysis of the financial products in their portfolios, and explanations of the selection of parameters and models used for the valuations. The production of detailed reports and the availability of the team allow DeriveXperts to share its knowledge with its clients, helping them to grow a sustainable activity on structured products.

Core values

DeriveXperts' fundamental values are independence, transparency and ethics. To preserve these values, our priority is to remain financially and technically independent from any involved party. This also guarantees full transparency in the valuations methodology, as well as respect of a code of ethics.
